

Our Group

Purpose: to show that Bawany Enterprises is one chapter in a bigger story, and give visitors a reason to explore what else the group builds, without repeating anything already said on Home or About.

One Family, Many Directions

Bawany Enterprises is where our story started, but it's not where it stayed. Over the years, the same instinct that built our mobile distribution business, finding a real need and meeting it properly, led us into lighting, energy, and technology. Different products, same instinct.

Here's where that instinct took us.

Bawany Mobile

It began with a phone in someone's hand

Before Bawany Enterprises became a name people recognized, it was a small distribution operation trying to get genuine phones into genuine hands. Bawany Mobile grew out of that, and it's still the part of our story closest to where we started.

Login Smart Technology

From one accessory to a whole ecosystem

What started as a simple accessories line grew into something much larger. Today, Login Smart Technology builds smartwatches, wireless earbuds, headphones, speakers, power banks, chargers, and data storage, the everyday tech people actually reach for. It's less a product line now and more a lifestyle brand people follow for what's next.

Factor LED

When we decided light shouldn't be an afterthought

At some point, we looked at how lighting was being sold in Pakistan and realized it deserved better. So Factor LED became a manufacturer, not just a distributor, designing and producing residential, commercial, industrial, and architectural lighting right here, from COB lights to street lighting.

Factor Solar

Betting on where energy was heading

We saw where the country was moving, toward energy that doesn't run out, and got there early. Factor Solar now imports and distributes solar panels, lithium batteries, and inverters, helping homes and businesses take control of their own power.

Factor Institutional

Thinking bigger than a single building

Our newest chapter takes everything we've learned, in lighting, in energy, in doing things properly, and applies it at a larger scale, working with institutions on projects that need more than a single product, they need a partner who understands the whole picture.

Still One Standard

Different names, different products, same rule we started with, do it right, or don't do it. Wherever you find us in this group, that's what you're getting.
